NZARES One Day in-person Symposium 2023

Location: Massey University, Palmerston North Campus

Date: 21 November 2023

We are pleased to announce that NZARES is hosting a one-day in-person symposium on November 21, 2023. The theme of the Symposium is the Economic Resilience of New Zealand's Global Value Chains. The day-long event will be split into two separate sessions. The morning session will comprise a panel discussion from government and policymakers, researchers, and participants in global value chains to discuss the different perspectives on the interconnectedness between the resilience of these global value chains and New Zealand's economic development.

The afternoon session will include two consecutive in-person single-stream contributed paper sessions focusing on research being undertaken by research organisations into the resilience of global value chains. This can include universities, CRI, and industry. Each accepted paper will be allocated 20 minutes for presentation, followed by 5 minutes of questions and discussion. Due to time constraints in the afternoon session, the number of papers is limited to 6.

The organising committee cordially invites interested participants and scholars for the contributed paper sessions to submit their extended abstracts to nzares@nzares.org.nz by October 23, 2023, at 5:00 PM NZST. Authors will be informed about the acceptance of their submission by November 1, 2023.

Contributed Paper Sessions

As this session is an in-person presentation to present in a contributed paper session, you will need to register for the Symposium and submit your abstract on the website.

Stay tuned! More information including the exact date and call for papers coming soon.

Awards

NZARES Post-graduate Awards

- Michelle Barry, AERU, Lincoln University, Ph.D. student;
- Miloud Lacheheb, School of Economics and Finance, Wellington School of Business and Government, Victoria University of Wellington, Ph.D. student;
- Le Wang, Department of Global Value Chains and Trade, Faculty of Agribusiness and Commerce, Lincoln University, Ph.D. student.

NZARES NZAE ECR Workshop Best Presenter Awards

- Prince Annor, Department of Agribusiness and Markets, Faculty of Agribusiness and Commerce, Lincoln University, Ph.D. student;
- Miloud Lacheheb, School of Economics and Finance, Wellington School of Business and Government, Victoria University of Wellington, Ph.D. student.

Heading West

This award enables a New Zealand-based AARES member, who is in the early stage of their career, to travel to and present at the annual AARES conference, usually held in February each year. Nominations are usually called for around September/October with a decision made about October/November. Click here for more information on the award.

Job Vacancy:

NIWA is looking for an Environmental Economist in Hamilton!

"NIWA is a dynamic research organisation and New Zealand's largest and pre-eminent provider of climate, freshwater and marine science. Our core purpose is to enhance the economic value and sustainable management of New Zealand's aquatic resources and environments, to provide an understanding of climate and the atmosphere, and increase resilience to weather and climate hazards to improve safety and wellbeing of New Zealanders.

The position is part of the Social Sciences and Economics Team within NIWA. The team comprises seven staff based primarily in Hamilton. We work across NIWA's scientific platforms on multidisciplinary research and consultancy projects and lead social science and economics research providing applied knowledge and engagement to support decision-making by industry, government, Māori and community organisations." Please see the details here.
